I can't think of it. Yes, sir, no doubt, a most excellent gentleman, I have every reason to believe, since you tell me so; and as you say attendance would be well paid for, and it is alry here and very pleasant, doubtless it would be very beneficial to the poor, dear gentlemen, but I can't take him. don't take invalids. Because of the trouble? Oh, dear, no. That isn't it. Trouble I never mind. What is it, then? Wouldn't the boarders like it? Let the boarders mind their own affairs. if it was nothing catching, and neural-gia and nerves ain't catching that I ever heard of. No. no, but a scalded dog dreads cold water, and I have had invalids hefore. One invalid—he was

"He was brought in in a chair, "He was brought in in a chair, wrapped up in a counterpane, and I must say I thought he had a very red face; but that might be apoplectic, you know, or he might have stimulated himself into it, as an invalid might castly do, you know, and not to blame if the doctor recommended it. And he was taken into the best front room, next to the one Mrs. Jerrup had—my diamond boader, I used to call her; she had so many of 'em in her cars and on had so many of 'cm in her cars and on her fingers and at her throat. And as seen as he was comfortably fixed I went up to see him, and says I:

"Mr. Bolter,' says I—that was his name—'Mr. Bolter, is there anything I can do for you?

can do for you?

"And he says, as politely as you could wish: 'No, ma'am; there is not. All I shall need is a little water-gruel at 6 in the morning, and if the boarders have any of 'em a habit of singing laws any of 'em a habit of singing have any of 'em and you have any or 'em and you have any or 'em any or hymns in the evening, as I've known in pious boarding houses, to set the parlor door open that I may hear

Mr. Spicer did board with us, and did sing hymns, an' she sang 'em that night, and set the parlor door open; and Mr. Bolter rung his bell and sent down word that he was 'very much re-freshed, with his compliments, by the waiter. He did take stimulants, I smelt; and I said to myself: 'And who can blame him if it's ordered?' And it was broady, if I have a nose." was brandy, if I have a nose," melodrama of the old school, which de-lighted audiences some twenty-five years ago. It seems, however, that that which pleased our fathers has quite as great a charm for us. The story of the play is one of intense interest. Its construction is very clever. It is completely builded, the charclever. It is completely builded, the char-acters, the situations and incidents being part of a grand whole. The comedy is ex-cellent, and the pathos which permeates most of the scenes is so nicely dovetalled with the amusing portion that the sigh which indicates a sob has bardly been ex-perienced when the cunning of the connecty action causes pleasantry and laughter."

ALBAUGH'S OPERA-HOUSE. The "Bunch of Keys" is announced as the attraction at Albaugh's Opera-House for next week. This is one of the brightest of next week. This is one of the brightest of that class of plays which is built around a set of specialists, and those who witnessed its presentation here during the past two seasons will recall with pleasure the many funny scenes that occur, the pranks of Teddy, the facial contortions of Grimes and the humor of old Saagys. The musical parts of the play have been remodeled and new and popular songs introduced. The "Bunch of Keys" will afford a jolly evening's entertainment for all lovers of fun.

NEXT WEEK'S CONCERTS.
On Monday night Mr. Hermann Rakemann, a Washington boy who has just re-turned from an extended course of study at Berlin, will make his first appearance in this city at the Congregational Church as a violin soloist. He will be assisted by Miss Minnie Ewan, Mr. A. L. King, the New York tenor, and Professor Wm. Waldecker. Reserved seats can now be had at Droop's music store.

Tickets for the Thomas concerts, which like is so the Thomas concerts, which take place on the 27th and 28th at the Congregational Church, are on sale at Droop's music store. Mrs. Annie L. Powell of this city will take a prominent part in the concert, and her many friends in this city should give her a hearty welcome.

Sam is not much of a gun-ner, and looks much better in the box-office at the National than he does trudging through a stubble-field carrying a gun larger than himself. Sam enjoyed the heating first-rate, but when it came to the shooting he insisted on his friends' holding their fire until he got out of range. The birds improved the same opportunity. Nevertheless the party bagged a number of birds and rabbits and returned last night much elated over their day's sport. Mr. F. B. Bowers, the manager of the lisabled a scavenger's mule and woke up a special policeman. A large melody hurled from this musical catapult almost upset the Supreme bench, whereupon, it is said, Judge Thernton set about preparing an in-

The clerks in the building braced themselves with cotton-wool in their ears and mattresses against the win-dows to stand it till agents had been obtained for all of the counties, but yesterday the agent began on Arizona and Utah Territories and Nevada, and further endurance was out of the ques-tion. The clerks tore down their barricades, armed themselves with dustpans and brushes, fireplace blowers and and brushes, irreplace olovers and pokers, tin cuspidores and court gavels, and, under the leadership of a brazen-voiced accordeon, played by the most muscular member of the staff, stationed themselves at the several windows and began a discordant but powerful coun-

The battle waged flercely for half an hour, but the organina held its own easily and ground out "Nearer, My God, to Thee" for agents from Yuma, Deming and El Paso without any apparent concern till the assailants became exhausted and had fo retreat. Chief Clerk McCarthy fell across his desk, exhausted. Deputy Clerk Williams drained the perspiration off his brow into an empty ink-stand, while several others fell prostrated to the floor.

THE RANCOCAS STABLES. Earnings for the Past Year of Pierre Lorillard's Stud.

A correspondent of the Philadelphia News, writing from Burlington, N. J., says: The Rancocas Stables at Jobstown, owned by Pierre Lorillard, are about going into winter quarters. The carnings of the stables this year have been very large, exceeding previous years. They have, however, not been entirely satisfactory to the millionaire owner. Although the start was promising, he was much disappointed with the final results. The stables missed the spring meetings at Baltimore and Jerome Park and began the season at Sheepshead Bay. It was here that the famous Mortemer colts Cyclops and Savanac failed in the Foam Stakes. Notwithstanding the many defeats the stable won $96,097.50. Wanda, who was beaten for the Swift Stakes by Brookwood, and for the Coney Island Stakes by Miss Woodford, and nearly beaten by Mr. Scott's East Lynne, won $30,440 for her owner. The better part of this was in one stake, namely, at the of this was in one stake, namely, at the Monmouth Park, when she won the

The earnings of the horses were as follows: Wanda, 3, by horses were as follows: Wanda, 3, by Mortemer, $30,440; Dewdrop, 2, by Falsetto, $17,497; Pontiae, 4, by Pero Gomerz, $15,540; Unrest, 3, by Mor-temer, $11,269; Cyclops, 2, by Mor-temer, $4,970; Saranae, 2, by Mor-temer, $4,220; Katrine, 3, by Mortemer, $2,700,25; Devks Carte, 5, by Tontemer, $4,220; Katrine, 3, by Mortemer, $3,706,25; Drake Carter, 5, by Ten Brocck, $2,850; Pontico, 2, by Mor-temer, $1,300; Emperor, 4, by Enquirer, $850; Heva, 3, by Mortemer, $825; Pa-role, aged, by Leamington, $775; Ariel, 2, by Mortemer, $500; Greenfield, 3, by Glen Athol, $450; Winfred, 2, by Mor-3, by Mortemer, $75. The entrance money for the 150 starts, in which the stable participated, amounted to $9,950, leaving a net total of $86,117.50. At Jerome Park Pontico made his debut, winning a selling race, which produced the stormy scene between the owners of the Rancocas and Brooklyn stables, costing the former the sum of $7,005 to retain the winner, being the highest price ever paid in this country for a horse in a selling race. This reduces the net total to $79, The Rancocas stables in 1883 entered in various races 23 horses, who made 203 starts, of which they won 57 races, were second 50 times and third 28 times, the gross amount won being $58,295. In 1884 23 horses started 131 times, winning 39 races. They were second 38 times and third 25 times. The gross amount won was $81,202.50, Wanda alone winning $35,720. This year there were 26 horses that were started 150 times, winning 33 races, were second 38 times and third 14 times, winning $96,067.50.

Nineteen jockeys have worn the
"cherry and black" during the year.

Mr. Pierre Lorillard, sr., is proud of his Rancocas stables and is much exercised about its future master. A year ago he made his son, N. Griswold Lorillard, his partner in his racing en-prises, but the business is not congenial to him, so he has acquiesced in another plan, whereby his father has arranged that Pierre Lorillard, jr., shall become a trustee for his little sor Pierre, now 4 years old, who is to be the future master of the great stud farm of Burlington County. Salvation On is the greatest pain de-stroyer of the age. It speedily annihilates pain, whether from a cut, bruise, scald, burn, frost-bite, or from a wound of any other kind. Price only 25 cents.

THE KING OF BURMAH.

A Good Looking Young Man, But a Very Bad Fellow. King Thebaw is thought, in a great measure, to inherit his feroclous nature from his mother, who belonged to one of the wild northern tribes-who are esteemed, even by the Burmahs, as savages, or at all events had much of their blood in her veins. She is also said to have contracted a fierce hatred for the English-a feeling which is fully shared by her son. He is a little over twenty-six years of age, and acover twenty-six years of age, and according to a correspondent who was received by him in audience some time ago, is a tall, well-built, personable young man; he is very fair in complexion, has a good forchead, clear, steady cyes, and a firm, but pleasant mouth; his chin is full and somewhat sensual looking, but withal he is a manly, frank-faced man, and is said to have gained self-possession and lost the early nervons awkwardness of his position with great rapidity. Theebaw is one of the youngest of the forty-eight sons of the late King, and was selected from his brothers, partly owing to fefrom his brothers, partly owing to fo-male influence, and partly owing to the belief of the ministers that he would aid the accomplishment of the programme of constitutional reform by which they hoped to inaugurate a new reign. How their expectations have been falsified we have already seen, but we may mention a curious fact that, with all his barbarity. Thesbaw has a certain love for science, and has bought the greater portion of the apparatus for the electric light recently used in Bombay and Calcutta to illuminate his palace and gardens at Mandalay.—[Rochester Post and Express.

MRS. FERGUSON'S STORY

"Yes, sir. I am Mrs. Ferguson and I do take bourders; but you say your friend is an invalid, and I can't. Indeed I can't think of it. Yes, sir, no doubt, ss for me, I hadn't a spoon left, and nothing to put on but the waterproof cloak. But nothing dreadful had happened except to the invalid gentleman. He disappeared.

"They have murdered him,' says I."

I'm sure this invalid gentleman is all that one could wish—all! Oh, I feel quite poscould wish—all: Oh, I tert quite pos-live of that, and no offense; but with an invalid in the house I should be obliged to sit up in the bed all night. I should have nerves to that extent. No, no invalid for me; but Mrs. Tompkins
